Independence Day.

O God of life and love and light,
 We send our voice in song to thee;
 Thy hand hath led us through the night,
 Thy power hath raised and made us free.
 Be still our guide, our strength, our stay;
 Bless thee by name from shore to shore,
 To thee we turn both night and day,
 From humbled hearts thy grace implore.
 Let justice, truth and love abound;
 Keep us as brothers, hand in hand;
 Be neither far nor falsehood found;
 Nor greed nor hunger mar the land.
 A ransomed nation, strong and free,
 Let grateful love our aims inspire;
 God of our fathers! unto thee
 We send our songs in holy praise!
 —Judge Daniel J. Donahoe.

Vermont Personals.

Henry C. Sholes who went from Vermont to Washington in 1861, died at the nation's capital on June 19 at an advanced age. He was one of the organizers and active members of the Vermont Association and was the crier in the supreme court of which Judge Wendell P. Stafford is a member. In speaking of him Judge Stafford said, "He was a Vermontor and perhaps welcomed my coming with additional warmth because I came from the same state. At all events we became the best of friends. No one could be kinder or more considerate, more faithful or more anxious to make others happy. I shall miss him always."

The newspaper fraternity throughout the state, as well as his Burlington friends, will congratulate Sherman P. Allen upon his appointment upon the Washington staff of the New York Herald. Mr. Allen left the Burlington Free Press to become Congressman D. J. Foster's private secretary and is now one of the attaches of America's greatest newspaper. Mr. Allen has a brilliant journalistic future.

Few men in public life have more friends than Hon. Horace W. Bailey, now United States marshal, and some of them will learn for the first time that he has been in the Rutland city hospital for the past two months. Though unable to leave the hospital he is able to attend to his correspondence and some of his official duties, and all his friends will be glad to learn that he is steadily improving and will soon be around again. Mr. Bailey is a large man with a large heart and one that is missed at all public occasions that he is unable to attend.

The friends of the late B. Frank Stevens, for 40 years a resident of London and dean of the American colony there, will be interested to know that his Great Index to the manuscripts in the European archives relating to America from 1763-1783 has been secured by the Congressional Library. This is a stupendous work of 180 folio volumes and bound in full morocco. Mr. Stevens was a native of Barre and one of the greatest antiquarians and compiler of manuscripts this country ever produced.

George H. Howard of Craftsbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Howard, was one of the graduates at Dartmouth College last week and one of the speakers upon the commencement stage. His theme was "Corporation Directors and the Public."

The Burlington News calls timely attention to the "summer rules" and "lest we forget" we reprint them with our hearty endorsement:

"Don't hurry; walk on the shady side of the street; eat fruit and bread, and few meats and heavy pastries; go seldom to the ice water tank; dodge exciting arguments with your friends; take in the ball games whenever possible; dress sensibly, and above all become an active member of the Don't Worry Club."

Vermont Insurance.

The Insurance Press of New York gives $1,887,997 as the amount of claims paid by life insurance companies in Vermont during the year 1906. Brattleboro had the largest payment $135,824 standing 163rd on the list in the United States. Brattleboro received $90,764; Rutland, $84,615; Montpelier, $69,045; St. Albans, $5,061; St. Johnsbury, $24,024; Middlebury, $22,076; Barre, $18,000.

Of other towns South Ryegate had $3,000; Ryegate, $3,297; Hardwick, $3,004; Wells River, $2,297.

The biggest payment reported was Walter H. Childs, Brattleboro, $67,720.

In Memoriam.

Charles H. Rainey, of Victory.

This community was greatly horrified at the death, by lightning, of Charles H. Rainey, of Victory, a few days since. Had Mr. Rainey died from sickness, the grief of those who had the good fortune to know him, would have been no less sincere and profound; but being stricken down, in full health and vigor, with many years of happiness, hope and usefulness apparently before him, is indeed, most shocking.

"And like the waters rushing
 Among the wooden piers,
 A flood of thoughts comes o'er us
 That fills our eyes with tears."

Mr. Rainey was born in Pickering, Canada West, in 1854. When a boy of fifteen he came to New Hampshire, where he remained until about twenty five years ago when he located in Victory; here he had won the love, confidence and esteem of his people to an unusual degree. He was frequently called by his townsmen to administer public affairs and served them as constable, collector of taxes, school director, and in 1900 he represented the town in the General Assembly of the State. He served in that body on the joint committee on Immigration and Industrial Affairs. In both the committee room and upon the floor of the House he won the enviable reputation of a careful, cautious and yet strong man, who sought those measures which would best serve the whole people.

No state or community can be truly good or great, only so far as the citizens of that state or community excel in patriotism, morality and love of truth. The one thing more than all others, that has given our state high place in the constellation which forms our matchless union, is the high quality of our average citizen. This high average is the one thing, more than all others, that causes the sons of Vermont, wherever they go, at all times, and in all places, not only to be proud, but, if need be, assert the fact that they are Vermonters.

Charles H. Rainey, in his life measured up to the standard required of his sons, by Vermont, as a citizen. He performed his full duty, whenever his time or his talents were demanded he gave of both freely to his town and state. Faithfully and efficiently he served his people as citizen and official. He was regarded as wise, honorable, clean; a lover of truth and right. He was loved and respected by those who knew him best.

Addition tells us—
 The soul, secure in her existence, smiles
 At the drawn dagger, and defies its point;
 The stars shall fade away, the Sun himself
 Grow dim with age, and Nature sink in years;
 But thou shalt flourish in immortal youth,
 Unhurt amidst the war of elements,
 The wreck of matter, and the crash of worlds.

April 27th, 1889, Mr. Rainey was united in marriage to Delia, a daughter of Hon. Sheridan Allen, of Maidstone. Mrs. Rainey survives her husband.

Mr. Rainey's Funeral.

The funeral was held at the Methodist church at Concord Friday, June 28. Rev. M. H. Smith pastor of the church officiated. Mr. and Mrs. May sang. The casket was surrounded with beautiful flowers, silent tokens of the esteem in which the deceased was held. The pall bearers were George Davis, E. A. Gray, William Pratt and Andrew Lyon, Moose River Lodge, F. & A. M., and Adah Chapter O. E. S., of both of which he was a member, were present in a body and escorted his remains to the cemetery where he was buried under Masonic orders. Among those called here to attend the funeral were Walter Rainey, Littleton; Edward Rainey, North Woodstock; William Rainey, St. Johnsbury Center; Walter Houston, Johnson; Mrs. John Rainey, Percy Rainey, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lynaugh, Victory; Mrs. Harland Parker and Mrs. Wilder, Lyndonville; Asa Howard, Mark Mencham, Mrs. Ida Weeks, St. Johnsbury; Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen, Miss Allen, Maidstone; Mrs. Gertrude Ritchie, Guildhall.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends who by loving words and helpful deeds, helped us in our great bereavement, in the death of our husband and brother. We also thank the Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star Chapter and other friends for the many beautiful flowers. May you find as true friends in your time of trouble.

Mission Study Class.

The last meeting of the Christus Redemptor class was held at the Museum Friday afternoon. The program was in charge of Mrs. Albert H. Gage and after the devotional exercises, Mrs. Herbert Gray gave an interesting paper on the Philippines, her special subject being "The Field and How it Opened." Miss Lucy M. Sinclair followed with a paper on the people of the island. She spoke of the ambition of the people, sacrificing time, effort and money for the sake of christian civilization. Five minute papers were given on denominational missions by Miss Carr, who told of the good work the Episcopalians had done there. The first non-Roman church erected was the Episcopal. She especially emphasized the importance of religious training in the home and how children should be brought up. Mrs. Mackinnon represented the Congregationalists, speaking of the work Robert Black is doing in Manila. The work in the missionary line is slow, owing to the lack of missionaries, the ignorance of the people and the distances of the stations which number seven. The Baptists were represented by Miss Isabel M. Henderson. She spoke of the work in the islands of Negros and Panay. The Catholics at first had a strong hold but in the course of time the Protestants gained a foothold and 26 churches were erected for the uplifting of the natives. These people are a poor, uneducated class, but are ambitious and zealous and with the work of the missionary great results are anticipated. The meeting closed with the singing of "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

Flower Mission Day was observed by the W. C. T. U. in an interesting meeting held at the home of the president, Mrs. H. N. Turner, June 25. The exercises opened with singing, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory," Mrs. J. M. Frost presiding at the piano. After the scripture reading by the president, prayer was offered by Rev. J. M. Frost. Cards on which were printed scripture texts, were distributed and read in turn.

Mrs. Turner in a few words gave an account of the origin of Flower Mission day, speaking at the work of Miss Jennie Casseday, of Louisville, Ky., an invalid, whose efforts to brighten other lives with gifts of flowers led to the forming of such a department in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Miss Casseday was the first national superintendent of that department.

A beautiful poem on flowers was read by Mrs. Anna Spencer Frost. "Gallies," which was sung by Mrs. P. P. Hazen, was much enjoyed. Mrs. Turner's reading of Van Dyke's poem, "The Telling of Felix," was followed with deep interest.

Rev. A. F. Welch addressed the meeting, speaking of "The Beautiful in Character." Toward the close of his remarks he commended the work of the W. C. T. U., and said that the defensive attitude of the saloon men showed that the influence of this work had been felt. Following this program an opportunity for social enjoyment was given, while cake and ice cream were served in the dining room.

Ninth Grade Graduation.

The graduating exercises of the ninth grade of our public schools was held at Music Hall Friday afternoon and attracted a number of interested spectators. The class colors were blue and gold, and yellow and blue flowers and an abundance of ferns were banked on the stage in an effective manner. The program was in charge of Supt. C. H. Dempsey and was carried out as published last week with the exception of the negative of the debate. Roland B. Spencer was unable to give his part and it was read by Miss Freda J. Gillilan. The parts were well taken and each speaker, as well as all the musical pieces, received deserved applause. In presenting the diplomas the chairman of the school board, Rev. A. Francis Welch, spoke of the importance of education in modern life and congratulated the scholars upon reaching this important period in their school life.

Following the exercises the members of the graduating class were given a luncheon at the home of Miss Mary B. Carr, a member of the class.

The St. Johnsbury banks have had a very prosperous six months and the statements issued June 29 are most gratifying to the stockholders and depositors in these institutions.

Stiles' store, or at Brown Bros.

At the Opera House.

Even the extreme heat did not deter a large sized crowd from attending the production of "The Burglar," by A. Q. Scammon's company at the opera house Thursday evening, and those who did attend witnessed one of the best comedies of modern times. William Lewis in the leading part was seen in one of his most congenial roles and he was admirably supported by an exceptionally good cast.
